CMMAIA PRESIDENT / PRESIDENTE DA CMMAIA

Message from the Mayor of Maia

I conceive sport, in its multiple modalities and dimensions, as a phenomenon of modernity, which reveals the degree of human and social development of contemporary societies.

Recognizing the importance and contributions that it gives to the strengthening of social cohesion in our community, the sports phenomenon has deserved by the Municipality of Maia, a very particular attention and a very strong investment, both in sports equipment, which allow a regular practice adequate and safe, as in human resources and programs that leverage the promotion and development of sport throughout the county.

Our focus is firstly to provide as many people, children, young people, adults and seniors as possible with a healthy workout and sport for all.

But along with this strategy of widespread promotion of sports, Maia has been highlighted by the statement in several modalities whose results clearly demonstrate the enthusiasm, commitment and dedication of our athletes.

I would like to emphasize how much pride should be given to the whole community, the fact that everyone can want to practice and exercise, but also the honor and prestige that our champions score with their outstanding sports, name of Maia, not infrequently with the glitter of gold, to the podiums in the four corners of the World.

There are many and diversified benefits arising from regular sports, among which are those that directly benefit our health. But there are other advantages that deserve to be considered as well, such as discipline, self-knowledge, self-confidence, self-esteem, mutual respect among athletes, fair play, obedience to rules and fulfillment of certain rituals. such as scrupulous observance of ethics and sporting truth, essential values, without which Sport will not fully fulfill its role as promoter of social peace.

As we know, in Martial Arts, all these values take on a rigor and precision in such a demanding way, that leads its practitioners to more effectively teach this way of being and practice sports, becoming as a consequence of this practice, citizens endowed with an inspiring civic serenity, which is often pointed socially as an example to follow.

I express to the Karate Club of Maia, my personal and institutional recognition, for the meritorious work that has been developing in favor of the sporting development of our community.

Proof of the quality of its organizations and achievements, here it is again, in the fact of having had the courage and the determination, to hold this event - "Maia European City of Goju-Ryu 2018", which brings to Maia, in addition to hundreds of visitors, the best athletes of the sport, coming from the most diverse points of the Country and Europe.

I congratulate the Karate Club of Maia for the sports animation that the "Maia European City of Goju-Ryu 2018" will provide to the community, the region and the country.

As my fraternal embrace of friendship, I warmly greet the participating athletes, coaches, judges, leaders, families of the participants and the public in general, wishing that the whole event be lived in the perfect harmony of a sports party, here in this house, Maia .

WELCOME MAIA

Maia is a Portuguese city situated on the North of the country, in the Oporto District. It has about 35 625 inhabitants. The city has an area of 83.14 km² and had 140 859 inhabitants in 2008. Presently, it is divided into 17 sub regions. Maia is in the centre of other major cities: on the north, the cities of Trofa and Santo Tirso; on the east, the city of Valongo; southeast, Gondomar; south, Oporto; southwest, Matosinhos; and northwest, Vila do Conde.

HISTORY

The area where the city is presently placed is inhabited for thousands of years, and there were found traces dating from the Paleolithic period. In some of the region`s hills traces of people from the Iron Age were found. Attracted by the wealthy soils and the abundance of the resources, Romans also left here visible marks of their occupation.

In the mid-thirteenth century, this area extended from the city of Oporto up to the Ave and from the sea to the mountains. In 1304, however, these lands were integrated in Oporto, losing the political and administrative autonomy. In 1360, the first grantees were established in the region and in this year, King Peter I gave the landlord of Azurara, with the lands of Maia, to the Prince Dinis, his son.

The history of this county is also closely linked to the founding of the nation. Some authors argue that even the Prince Afonso Henriques was educated here, next to the family of Mendes da Maia, to whom the Archbishop of Braga, D. Paio Mendes, and the famous warrior Gonçalo Mendes da Maia, the "Lidador", so named for having entered into constant fearless fights against Saracens, belonged.

In the early sixteenth century, King Manuel I granted the charter, which established the rents and grounds to be paid to the grantees of Maia's lands, as well as how to carry out common punishments and justices.

Between the years 1700 and 1836, the county was composed of 44 parishes and encompassed the entire sea range between the Leça and the Ave. With the administrative reforms initiated in 1836, it became a separate municipality, but reduced in area and number of parishes. In 1857 it was, even, extinct and it was necessary to wait until 1868 to have it restored.

In 1809, Napoleon's army of the Duke of Dalmatia, Marshal Soult, crossed Maia in its way to Oporto. In the turbulent years of liberal fights, between 1832 and 1834, it was the stage of bloody struggles between absolutists and liberals.

On the 23th August, 1986, Maia was finally given the status of city.
